

ANTICIPATE HUGE CROWD FOR COUNTY SEAT MODEL MEET

Plans Made to Take Care of 10,000 at Doylestown Event, August 28th

KIWANIANS SPONSOR

Members of Service Club Are Briefed for Their Duties

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 22—Briefing in their duties and assignments has apprised members of the Kiwanis Club of Doylestown of their full duties for the second annual model air show which the Kiwanis Aero Club will sponsor on Sunday, August 28th, at Doylestown Airport.

Last year over 5,000 persons attended the meet during the day, and plans have been completed by the committees to take care of over 10,000 this year if necessary.

Kiwanians were informed at their dinner meeting that the air show will be in operation from 9 in the morning until 5 in the afternoon. There are 65 separate and individual events that will be run in three classes, junior, senior and open.

Over 2,000 in trophies and merchandise has been donated for prize awards for the biggest affair of its kind ever attempted in this section of the state.

Contest Director William A. Lehman and his associate, Frank L. Worthington, reported that contestants from 12 states have made entries. A souvenir program booklet of 40 pages—1500 copies—has been printed, copies of which are being mailed out to contestants. Other copies will be presented to the first arrivals at the show on August 28.

"It looks now as though we will have 500 contestants," contest leader Lehman reported to Kiwanians. "Never have I seen finer cooperation from the business men, manu-

"The Swan" Has Opening At Playhouse Tonight

NEW HOPE, Aug. 22—A distinguished cast of Broadway actors will be seen tonight at the Bucks County Playhouse, when "The Swan," glittering comedy by Ferenc Molnar opens a week's engagement.

Viola Roache, who played last season for the Theatre Guild in "Make Way For Lucia" and in the Hartman's revue "Angel In The Wings," is starred in the role of an ambitious noblewoman whose character is said to be patterned after that of the late Queen Marie of Roumania. The title role is acted by lovely Frances Reid and Dorothy Sands will play another pivotal role.

"The Swan" has all the grace, charm and wit associated with the continental comedies so popular in pre-war days, and has been a favorite of playgoers in this country and abroad.

The cast, directed by Paul Morrison, includes Anthony Kemble Cooper as a stuffy prince who marries to please his mother, Karl Weber as a romantic tutor in the royal household, Henry Jones as a jolly priest, Judson Rees and Barry Truax as two young princes, Carl White, Robert Caldwell, Frieda Patrick, Josephine Patrick, Fred Blair, Toni Robinson, Patricia Cowell, Robert Nutt, Hugh Pershing, Edward Maher and Richard Lounsbury.

BOOSTERS TO MEET

A meeting of the Cadet Booster Association of the American Legion will be held in Bracken Post home at eight o'clock this evening.

Mrs. Maurice J. Keating Dies Here On Sunday

Mrs. Mary V. Keating (nee Bell), wife of the late Maurice J. Keating, died yesterday morning at the home of her son-in-law, Alexander Dixon, Jr., 1028 Radcliffe street.

Mrs. Keating, who formerly resided at 519 Linden street, was born in Mauch Chunk.

She is survived by: daughters, Mrs. Alfred Darrah, of Andalusia, and Mrs. Alexander Dixon, Jr., of Bristol; sons, Frank J. and Michael J., also of Bristol, and 12 grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at nine o'clock Wednesday morning from her late residence, 1028 Radcliffe street, with Solemn Mass of Requiem in St. Mark's R. C. Church at 10 o'clock. Interment in St. Mark's Cemetery will be in charge of John S. Gavegan, funeral director. Friends are invited to call Tuesday evening.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

James Brown, wildlife protection assistant for seven counties outlined game conditions expected to prevail in the area when he addressed members of Great Swamp Fish, Game and Forestry Association, Tuesday evening at Quakertown.

Announcement was made that 180 pheasants from the association stock will be released this week in this vicinity.

A petition against the recent State Game commission ruling of open season on doe this year was presented before the organization. Three films were shown on beaver, commercial fishing and game fishing in Michigan.

Plans to make Pennsylvania Week in Doylestown outstanding were discussed at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Inc., Thursday evening, when a suggestion was made that all the types of products and wares manufactured in the county seat be exhibited in store windows between Oct. 17 to 24th.

President Paul R. Emrich volunteered to contact all the businessmen there and vice president John A. Mueller will contact all the manufacturers. The C. of C. will cooperate with Councilman C. Eldon Clemens, chairman for Doylestown. Because of the good attendance

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The Tito regime accused Russia yesterday of having sold out Yugoslav interests in Slovene Carinthia, in Austria, to further Kremlin interests. The Belgrade note, six in a series of bitter exchanges between the two countries, was issued in reply to a Soviet statement that Yugoslavia was considered an enemy.

In Germany, a Communist leader announced postponement of formation of an "All-German government" in the Soviet zone, a move that had been expected as a Russian reply to the coming establishment of a Western German Federal Republic.

John J. McCloy, United States High Commissioner-designate for Germany, announced the appointment of seven chief advisers who will serve on the Western Allied commission. Three of them worked under Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

The Christian Democratic Union, strongest party in the German Federal Republic, rejected the possibility of a coalition with the Social Democrats and reaffirmed its plans for a free-enterprise economy in the new state.

DEMONSTRATE ELECTRONIC BRAIN

Has "Mercury Memory" Capable of Calculating 12,000 Times

IS EXHIBITED TODAY

By John McCafferty (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent) PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22—(INS)—An electronic brain with a "mercury memory" capable of calculating 12,000 times faster than a human being was demonstrated today by two Philadelphia engineering wizards.

The invention called "Binae" is the brainchild of Dr. John W. Mauchly, 42, and Dr. J. Presper Eckert, Jr., 39.

Binae was hailed as a forward step in aviation design that will permit rapid calculations "formerly impossible or impractical" with savings of hundreds of thousands of dollars, perhaps even millions, in time and money.

The amazing "brain," constructed for the Northrop Aircraft Corp., of Hawthorne, Calif., will virtually eliminate the hazards of test flying of airplanes.

John K. Northrop, president of the aircraft firm, said Binae probably will erase "costly and often destructive physical tests" in future airplane design.

Flying will be made safer by the invention of Binae, he contended, because the "brain" will permit more accurate, thorough, and extensive design, research and development of planes.

Typical of Binae's remarkable computations are these:

68 RELIEF CASES IN COUNTY IN WEEK

Number of Persons On Relief In County Week of Aug. 13th Totaled 125

130 BLIND RECIPIENTS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 22—During the second week of August, Pennsylvania's General Assistance rolls increased by 1,499 persons, which represents some improvement over the change during the first week of the month, when the net increase amounted to 1,706. The number of persons now receiving General Assistance totals 74,365.

During the past few weeks there have been indications that unemployment has already reached a peak and will soon decline. Since the unemployed rarely apply for assistance until after a considerable period of unemployment, upward and downward movements in the assistance rolls generally lag some distance behind changes in unemployment levels. It is too early to predict when the effect of more favorable employment conditions will lead to a reversal in the trend of the assistance rolls.

PHILADELPHIA PREPARES TO WELCOME INVASION BY 35,000 VICTORIOUS VETERANS OF TWO WORLD WARS FOR CONVENTION

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22—(INS)—Philadelphia prepared today for an invasion by 35,000 victorious veterans of two world wars assembling for the 31st National Convention of the American Legion during the week of August 28.

A vanguard of 19 officers and key personnel from the national headquarters at Indianapolis, Ind., arrived yesterday for the first Legion national convention in the Quaker City since 1926.

COUNCIL TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON ZONING LAW

Sets August 30th As Time To Discuss Revised Draft of Law

HAVE MADE CHANGES

Hearing Is To Be Held In The Municipal Building

Bristol Borough Council will hold a public hearing Tuesday evening, August 30th, at eight o'clock in the municipal building at which time all residents and parties in interest may appear in regard to the proposed zoning law for Bristol.

The first draft of the proposed law was submitted to two public meetings here and a number of changes and revisions were suggested, and as far as thought practical these changes have been made and the revised law placed in the hands of council.

Before enacting the law council desires to have an expression of opinion upon the revised draft and it is for this purpose that the meeting on August 30th will be held.

This, it is believed, will be the final hearing upon the proposed law and there will be present at the hearing representatives of the Government Consulting Service, Institute of Local and State Government University of Pennsylvania, and also members of the Bristol Zoning Commission.

It is believed that Council will vote upon the law at its September meeting.

Mr. Davis is survived by his wife, Josephine Johnson Davis; a daughter, Dorothy; two sons, James and Norman, Jr., all of Bristol; his mother, Mrs. Lura Davis, Trenton; two sisters, Mrs. Lura Jones, Trenton, and Mrs. Mildred Perry, New York, N. Y.; and a brother, Harry, of Bristol.

BRISTOL MAN'S TRUCK SHEARED OFF CHASSIS

Comes To Grief Under The Market Street Elevated, Philadelphia

G. MAZZANTI DRIVING

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22—(INS)—A produce truck driven by Guido Mazzanti, of Bristol, came to grief today under the Market street elevated at 30th street. The body was severed from the chassis when the vehicle failed to clear the overhead span.

The chassis moved forward 50 feet before being brought to a stop by Mazzanti.

Mazzanti's son, Guido, Jr., was asleep beside his father when the truck jammed under the steel structure.

Can You Remember?

When Bristol police officers, led by the late Chief Charles Saxton, every evening at seven o'clock, walked from the police station, Radcliffe and Market streets to Mill street and the P. R. R., and then went to "pound" their respective "beats."

Chief Saxton was always in uniform and walked alone at the head of his men, who marched two abreast.

It was a dignified procession.

Lane said that the diplomat submitted his resignation Aug. 8 and is now trying to enter the U. S. with his wife and daughter.

Wigglesworth Opposes FCC Ban on "Giveaways"

Washington—Opponents of the Federal Communications Commission's ban on "giveaway" radio and television programs found a new ally today in Rep. Wigglesworth (R) Mass. Wigglesworth, a ranking minority House member, charged the FCC order was an attempt to censor radio and he encouraged broadcasters planning court tests. He said he hoped the order would "be stoutly resisted."

Communist-Led Strikes Crumble in Finland

Helsinki—Finland's Communist-led wave of strikes crumbled slowly today under Government counter-measures and the back-to-work ultimatum of the Finnish Trade Union Federation. FIRE AT BANK ATTRACTS CROWD OF SPECTATORS

Blaze Confined to Basement Room Where It Originated

BANK OPENS ON TIME

Fire this morning in a basement room of the Farmers National Bank of Bucks County's building, Radcliffe street, attracted a large crowd of spectators and for a time it was feared there was a serious blaze in the ancient and historic structure which was built in 1818, making it 131 years old. It has been occupied as a bank 116 years.

The blaze originated in a basement room on the east side of the building near a chimney. Some paper became ignited and soon the entire structure was filled with smoke. Employees on the second floor noticed smoke and ran to the residence of Harold Hunter, 117 Mulberry street. Hunter is assistant cashier, and he telephoned fire headquarters.

Bristol firemen were called and encountered difficulty in entering the basement from the first floor, but hose lines were laid in through the front door and firemen with smoke masks made their way cautiously down the stairway. Once inside the room where the fire was located the firemen broke windows and doors from the inside, they being barred on the outside.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

We've been so busy watching Shirley May we forgot to note that William Z. Foster is still doing poorly.

Mr. Foster put on his night-shirt and settled back on the pillows just about as the Communist trial began, and nothing in the testimony has seemed to improve his condition.

But it doesn't seem right... Judge Medina sitting there on that nice hard bench every day and Conrad Foster unable to get off his soft mattress.

Rep. Thomas came down with an attack of miseries too some time ago but he's reported much better since General Vaughan took back the front pages.

Thomas might have a tough time getting himself before a committee now... he's nowhere near as colorful as the current subjects.

If he's going to get anywhere he better give away a few refrigerators to Republicans... that would get headlines.

JUGULAR VEIN IS SEVERED; TRIPLE CRASH, NEW HOPE

Condition of Lambertville Man Serious; 4 Others Are Hurt

WOMAN IS INJURED

Crashes at Langhorne and Morrisville Result In Damage to Cars

In an accident involving three automobiles on Old York road, three miles west of New Hope, during the week-end, one man was seriously hurt, and four others sustained injuries which sent them to a hospital. In a Penndel crash a woman sustained a possible leg fracture. Three other highway crashes resulted in car damages, but no injuries.

The one who was admitted to Abington Hospital, seriously hurt, and whose condition at mid-morning was unchanged, is John Prawie, 21, of Lambertville, N. J. His jugular vein was severed.

The other injured, admitted to Doylestown Emergency Hospital, are:

Floyd R. Walls, 21, of Butler.

William Barbizio, Jr., 19, Stockton, N. J.

George Huber, 22, Lambertville.

Maurice LaMato, Trenton, N. J.

Police were unable for a time after the crash, due to condition of the injured, to secure an account of the accident. DiMato was identified as one of the drivers, it being stated that his machine had run out of gasoline. Huber was said to be the driver of the second vehicle, Prawie riding with him. The driver of the third vehicle is said to be Miss Miriam Adams, of Bethlehem, she operating Walls' sedan.

The woman injured at Penndel is:

Mrs. Shirley Helfer, Mt. Vernon, N. J., possible fracture of right leg.

Dry Transplanting Time Cancels Flower Show

KELLERS CHURCH, Aug. 22—The flower and vegetable show scheduled by Kellers Church Community Flower and Garden Club for August 31st has been cancelled. This is said to be due to dry weather at transplanting time.

The program at the meeting last week consisted of articles read on water smelling and the calendar of the week by the members.

A new project was taken up to make pictures and trays with pressed flowers. The work is to be completed by December.

The next meeting will be held in the Grange hall here, Sept. 14, when a demonstration on making corsages and old fashioned bouquets will be given.

The door prize was presented to Mrs. Harry C. Wambold and brought by Mrs. Lando K. Moyer. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

OKLAHOMA LONGHORNS

Here's one for Texans to explain if they can. How come it took a fellow in Oklahoma to save the Texas longhorn from extinction?

Thirty years ago Earl Drummond, ranged in the Wichita wildlife refuge of Oklahoma, took a look around and saw that the longhorn cattle of the Southwest were just about nonexistent. That stirred him deeply. Why, it was longhorns that made Texas. The cows with the five to eight foot spread of horns had been the most famous of all Texas products from about 1845 to the end of the nineteenth century. The Spaniards had brought them originally to Mexico in the early 1500s.

Drummond could find only 20
cows and three bulls in 1927
when he and the U. S. Forest Service started to save the breed.
Today he is looking after a herd of 220 longhorns. Only a few years ago this most truly American breed was nearer extinction
than the buffalo ever was.

Is the longhorn worth saving
as a living museum piece? Americans who cherish the folkways and history of the Southwest will answer yes. For one thing the longhorn was responsible for the American cowboy — his toughness, his superb horsemanship,
and even his leather chaps he wore to protect his legs from the chapparal and cactus of the great dry ranges.

And the cow herself — what a gal she was! She'd fight the fiercest panther or wolf if her calf was in danger. A longhorn bull would even charge a grizzly bear.

Chickens can be bred without wings from coast to coast till not a single winged fowl remains. But the Texas longhorn deserves preservation intact — horns and all.

THE FIGHT ON POLIO

Medical science is making great progress in the battle against polio.

One of the latest developments in the fight against polio is the perfection of a plastic lung, weighing only a pound, to take the place of the 700-pound respirators now in use. The new lung fits over the chest, permitting the patient to lie abed, ride
in wheelchairs, or take the needed exercises. About 100 now are in use, and 75 more are available for shipment to any area which has an outbreak of the disease.

Preventive measures are well known and should be generally practiced. Children should be kept from crowds and excitement,
must not become fatigued and should be made to rest during the afternoon. Sudden chills are dangerous, and all mouth and throat operations should be avoided. And, above all, a physician should be called at the very first sign of illness.

Only little children should be satisfied to sit and blow bubble
and wait for the breaks.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol May 31, 1900. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger

Miss Meta Worthington has resigned her position as teacher of the Laurel Bend school.

Chief Burgess Augustus J. Cadwallader, of Yardley borough, has been appointed on the reception committee of the Republican National Convention.

The trolley that was expected to have been built this summer from Andalusia to the end of the Hulme-

On Sunday, Elisha Worthington
and Joseph Leaw, of Newtown, discovered a nest of five foxes on Bowman's hill, below New Hope,
and captured four of the occupants,
one making good his escape. The foxes are now at Delfington, but will probably go to Newtown later
to take up their abode.

For several days last week the Neshaminy Creek was swarming with herring of an unusually fine quality. As a result thereof many of our residents will live on salt fish next winter. It is said that a caught 250 of the fish last Thurs-

THE GREAT GAME
OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Republican Stupidity

Washington, Aug. 22
EVERY now and then some oracular person — generally one of our self-anointed "liberals" — jumps up to tell the Republican party what is the matter with it, what it should do to be saved. Such advice is worthless for two reasons—1, it comes from men who do not want the Republicans to win under any conditions; 2, even if their purpose were benign, what they say would not help because it avoids the facts.

FOR example, they consistently declare the Republicans cannot succeed until they discard "Old Guard reaction" and identify themselves with "progressive policies," which "appeal to the people." All this means is that the Republicans must go in the same direction as the New Deal Democrats, coddle
the same groups and continue the same spending pace regardless of debts, deficits and dangers. Unfortunately, this is what the Republicans have been doing since the day they fully grasped the power in that "tax, tax, tax, spend, spend,
spend, elect, elect, elect" idea enunciated by the late Mr. H. Hopkins.

Since the end of the war, we have placed in service a total of 59 entirely new central offices... we have added to the equipment in every one of our other central offices... we have added more than 93,500 poles and 1,400,000 miles of wire to our network.

Most important of all, we have added more than 813,000 tele-

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

victory in Virginia against about as formidable array of coddled groups
as could be devised, ought to prove that they do not constitute the whole country or even a majority thereof and that a man who stands against them for a sound principle can survive. The Republican party is full of men who believe in what Mr. Byrd believes, but become scared to death at the suggestion of actively and openly opposing these groups. The same applies to the Democratic party only more so as it is definitely tied to the groups and completely committed to spend more and less.

REFLECTION upon these things
should make it clear why the Republicans cannot win. So long as they remain true to their little hope for the country and none
whatever for the Republican party.
Two men have strikingly pointed this out recently. One is Mr. Herbert Hoover, whose great speech on his seventy-fifth birthday stressed the fact that today one out of every seven persons directly or indirectly
is receiving Government money.
If those of us who are married, he added, this would about equal the presidential vote of both parties in 1948. "Think it over," said Mr.
Hoover. The other man who has emphasized a similar point for a long time is Mr. Rogers Dunn, who conducts the Dunn Survey, of Greenwich, Conn.

MR. DUNN contends it has not been the labor vote or the Negro vote or the farm vote that has so consistently defeated the Republicans — but the pay-roll voters, now well above two million. With their wives, sons, daughters, etc., these amount approximately to seven million on election days. Until they find some way to combat or diminish that pay-roll vote the chances of Republican victory are small. It is idiotic to believe the vast bulk of them do not vote for the party in power. Undoubtedly this vote is an enormous political factor. Nevertheless experience has shown it can be added to the so-called "liberals"
and to the special groups and still fall far short of a majority—that is when a genuine alternative is offered.

IN BRIEF, the country is conservative whenever the issue is clearly drawn. It is neither New Dealish nor Fair Dealish. It is not for blithely the people with their own money or for waste or the "welfare state" or debts and deficits. It is not for the direction in which we have been going. But when the Republicans try to compete with the spenders there really is no place for either conservative Democrats or Republicans to go. Large numbers of them stay home. That is what they did in 1948. And that is what they will continue to do no matter who the candidates may be. So long as that situation exists

In Washington, a joint statement
by four Senators attacked the State

Teach Tot to Defend Himself

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

THE tot who won't defend himself has a sorry time of it. U-less he learns to take his own part he will probably go on letting other children lord it over him and will be a lonely child at six, ten or sixteen. Many mothers write about such children.

His trouble may have grown from one or many causes. He may have been cautioned constantly against fighting under any conditions. He may have been playing with older and stronger children who easily intimidate him. He may have had more playthings than his playmates. He may have been told that certain children are unfit to play with him, even been forbidden to play with them, and he may have told them why, in which case they soon will take reprisals. Or when he is not allowed to face certain hazards or do certain other things, he may hear his parents criticize his playmates and their parents. He may have been encouraged to tattle on other children and run crying to his mother for protection. He may have been ill
a great deal, missing good play practice. He may not have learned self-reliance physically or emotionally in the family.

Cries Easily

Any child who cries easily when frustrated in the family will incline to cry easily when with his playmates. The more readily he cries, the less he will look after himself and the less acceptable he will be to other children, and the more disposed to call other children by ugly names. These are all poor substitutes for self-defense.

If you have a child two, four or ten who won't take his own part with other children of his age, suppose you consider the following:

1. Work with your physician to make this child strong and healthy.
2. Study him in the family. Does he do for himself everything he is able to do? Can he amuse himself for a reasonable period at a stretch?

Does he respect the rights and possessions of other members of the family? Has he learned to accept some rules and decisions as final,
or does he whine, cry, or have a tantrum when he can't have his way? Have you trained him not to call any person by ugly names? Can he be normally comfortable out of your sight or when left with another responsible person? Does he have excessive fears? Is he excitabile or jittery? Does he cry easily and for long periods?

Child's Clothes

3. Do you dress him more fussily than his playmates are dressed?
Does he have more things to give away than they have? If he has,
he is less ready to protect his own things or he may try to buy his way with other children rather than win it by being a good playmate.

4. Have you told him he is too good to play with certain other children or complained to the parents of his playmates about them?
Let your child know he must look after himself, fight his own battles and settle his own quarrels. Urge him to avoid the use of sticks and stones but to use his bare hands in self-defense.

5. Attract a few children near his age to your premises and guide
him and them in proper play.

6. Help him develop some skills
other children of his age will admire. At quiet moments, show him how he can keep other children from seeing him cry, by hiding or stopping down pretending he is tying his shoes, till he gets self-control. Praise him for the slightest improvement in self-control and self-defense. Be happy with slight gains.

IMPROVE SERVICE OF
RANGE BY GIVING IT
REGULAR CLEANINGS

By Frances Vannoy

Home Economics Extension Rep.

Ranges will do a better job during the busy months of canning and extra cooking if homemakers keep them clean. A clean range helps keep the kitchen clean and free from smoke and odors, and women are urged to keep their ranges free
from dust, grease and rust.

Homemakers will find it easier to clean the enameled surfaces of a range as soon as food is spilled rather than after it has dried, using a dry cloth or paper for wiping up spilled food. If foods, especially greasy ones, sear onto the range
they may have to be removed by scouring. Scour carefully so as not to scratch the surface.

Metal and porcelain surfaces
need frequent washing with a cloth moistened in warm suds of mild soap or detergent. Do this only when the range is cool. Using this method on a hot range may crack
the enamel or burn a homemaker's hands.

Charred particles on burners,
heating units, and in ovens may be brushed off after the range cools.
Gas burners which have become clogged may be cleaned and opened up with a metal hairpin or wire.
Since ovens are usually closed so that spills cannot be seen, some homemakers may let spilled food accumulate inside.

Diluted ammonia will help remove scorched-on grease in the oven. Apply it with a cloth, or set a dish holding an ammonia-soaked cloth in a closed oven night to let the fumes loosen the soil. Then scour lightly with very fine steel wool or fine scouring powder. After using an oven, leave it open to cool and dry out. Steam, closed in, will cause rust and give an unpleasant odor.

(1) In the space of two hours, Binae obtained 26 solutions to mathematical problems that would have taken a man with the most advanced manual calculating machine many, many years to solve. Binae, for each solution, did 500,000 additions, 200,000 multiplications and 300,000 "transfers of control" in a mere five minutes.

(2) Twenty-five numbers, selected at random by persons attending a private demonstration of Binae, were calculated in square and cube root in the fraction of a second. For each square or cube root, Binae whizzed through hundreds of arithmetic operations.

A human being with a scratch pad ordinarily can find a square root correct to eight or nine digits in six minutes, with a desk calculator in two minutes. Binae did it in one-sixtieth of a second.

(3) Fed a number from Barlow's tables (a handbook containing the answers to square and cube roots). Binae flashed the solution in two-thousandths of a second. An engineer at the Eckert-Mauchly laboratory struggled nearly four hours on a manual calculator to find the right answer.

In size, Binae is only five feet high, four feet long and one foot wide. It fits in a medium-sized office.

It functions on a scale smaller than "Eniac," its 30-ton parent also invented by Eckert-Mauchly, because of its "mercury memory" which permits the computer to handle a great volume of data.

Electrical pulses representing numbers and instructions speed through Binae at the rate of four million per second.

Dr. Mauchly stressed that Binae actually is a brain "that does not think, but merely follows instructions given to it in the form of simple arithmetic operations."

The invention, he said, opens a "new era in industrial design forecast." Dr. Mauchly added:

"It often takes months, even years to bring a new industrial product from the research laboratory to the factory belt-line. This time can certainly be shortened through the use of computers such as the Binae."

Northrop said that Binae evolved from a need in aviation design for the solution of mathematical problems "which cannot be solved in any reasonable period of time by humans working with pencil and paper or ordinary calculating machines."

But Dr. Mauchly, 42-year-old engineering wizard, and the youthful Dr. Eckert have not yet reached the apex of their engineering dreams.

Already, they are at work on a bigger, more practical computer which will be called "Univac."

The two inventors believe "Univac" even will be able to forecast

NEWS OF INTEREST TO PA. FARMERS

By John Harns

(I. N. S. Penna. Farm Editor)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 22 — Pennsylvania farm extension experts have warned farmers against vegetation which forms deadly prussic acid and is dangerous to livestock.

Choke and wild cherry leaves, found in abundance along fence rows, are not poisonous normally, but if they wilt, as when trees or branches are cut or knocked down, the leaves form dangerous amounts of prussic acid.

Choke cherry leaves accounted for six cattle deaths in 1948, the agriculture dept. said. Twelve livestock deaths were recorded in that year from various poisonings.

The common pasture weeds water hemlock and poison hemlock in wet areas also are poisonous and are a menace to livestock.

Both types of hemlock grow four to six feet high and have flat-top clusters of white blossoms. The poison hemlock has fine leaves somewhat like the carrot, while the water hemlock leaves resemble parsnip leaves.

Livestock is apt to eat the young plants or second growth after mowing, the department said.

Snakeroot may cause sickness in cattle and can kill sheep. It grows in shaded areas. Bracken, or brake fern, common in poor pastures in northern counties, causes sickness with symptoms akin to hemorrhagic septicaemia.

Prussic acid-producing cherry leaves should be guarded against by frequent patrolling of areas to remove fallen branches, particularly after storms.

The federal-state crop reporting service believes the production of most fresh vegetables and melons will be a little larger in August and September than a year earlier, provided they are helped by sufficient rain.

Prices of deciduous fruits this summer are expected to average lower than last year since a larger total crop is in prospect, the service forecast. Farmers this summer will receive prices for their potatoes of from one-fourth to one-fifth lower than last summer.

The Franklin County Artificial Breeding Co-operative reported 415 farmers have enrolled 4,200 cows in

the artificial breeding program in the county.

Raymond Deardorff, of Chambersburg, the co-operative's inseminator, said since January 1st a total of 2,144 cows owned by member farmers have been bred artificially. That compared with 1,380 cows during the same period last year, he said.

Spends Summer Working In Western Wheat Fields

NEW BRITAIN, Aug. 22 — A local young man who left here after his high school graduation in June to work in the west wheat fields, has returned home. The youth, Donald Mathewson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Mathewson, together with Lee Hicks, of Colmar, hitchhiked to Dodge City, Kansas.

The next day they went to Ford, Kansas, where they immediately found employment on a large wheat ranch, and Donald operated a tractor pulling a 20-ft. plow and then a 20-ft. combine.

After the crop was about two-thirds in, hail damaged the rest so the boys moved on to Tribune, near the Colorado border, where Don says all he could see was wheat, cattle and prairie dogs.

Lee purchased an ancient car, in which the boys went to witness the "During the Frontier Celebration" at Cheyenne, Wyoming, visited Denver, and later saw the Mt. Rushmore Memorial in South Dakota.

They spent some time in Rapid City, S. D., and on the homeward trip visited relatives in Canton, Ohio. They did various odd jobs along the way to augment their income.

About the middle of September Donald expects to enter Prairie Bible Institute, Three Hills, Alberta, Canada, for missionary training.

High-heeled shoes are best saved for dressy daytime or evening occasions. This pair, made with firm leather soles, are both smart and comfortable.

By HELEN FOLLETT

If you have to "break in" new shoes you know you are being mean to your poor feet and that they are protesting. When the right last is found, shoes are comfortable the moment you put them on. On the subject of shoes most women are as stubborn as mules. They'll stick to the same size. They will select for looks instead of ease and freedom from pressure when they can find style and comfort both if they have the patience to seek this combination.

Nowadays, footwear to excite the envy and admiration of the most style-minded is built with full attention to the needs of feminine pedals. Flexible leather soles, insuring comfort and shape-retention, are available in desired thinness and many types of finish. Modern design imparts grace and delicacy to shoes with broad low heels. In high-heeled models, designer's magic and superior materials insure a snug fit together with flexible support and the ability to "step pretty."

Real novelties are shoes with

squared toes. At last the toes are getting a break. Let them go into a huddle and you'll have plenty of trouble (to express the matter poetically). Even hammer toes have resulted from the wearing of narrow shoes. Sometime a hammer toe requires surgical treatment and that is a final farewell to it. It is removed.

Considering that painful feet make one hurt all over, you would think that women who suffer such misery would find out the cause, have it removed or corrected. The cause, usually, is found in ill-fitting shoes. They are too short or too narrow, or not the right last.

If shoppers would listen to the advice of shoe clerks they would learn a lot and would locomote with ease. But they won't listen. On this subject most of them have fixed ideas.

This season's offerings are varied and as smart as mustard. Your little dogs can be encased in the decorative little houses or in those that have simple lines and a tailored look.

Member of Bristol High Faculty Weds At Lebanon

LEBANON, Aug. 22.—A college romance culminated in a wedding here on Saturday afternoon uniting Miss Allene E. Kase, daughter of Mrs. Edwin A. Kase, of this city, and Mr. Samuel Lange, son of Mrs. Earl B. Lange, Jenkintown. The double ring ceremony performed at two o'clock by Dr. E. M. Rhoads, assisted by Mr. Philip E. Henry, took place in Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church. Palm fronds and white gladioli in altar vases were arranged effectively, 28 candles surrounding altar pews.

The bride has been home economics teacher at Bristol high school. A twenty-minute recital was provided by Mr. Thomas Israel, of Cleona, previous to the ceremony; and offerings by vocalist Mr. Richard I. Carty, soloist of Temple University Glee Club, Philadelphia, were "Because," "Through the Years," and following the prayer offered by Mr. Henry he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Costumes of the attendants of the bride were of white eyelet embroidery over tulle, with matching tulle sashes. The gowns had fitted bodices, full pleated skirts arranged over hoops, and at four points the skirts were draped and tied with knots of tulle. The gowns featured decollete collars, and detachable sleeves. The gown of the honor attendant, Miss Kaye M. Dennison, of Falls Creek, was over orchid tulle, her headpiece and arm bouquet comprising orchid gladioli. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Dumphy, New York, N. Y., and Mrs. Warren Conrad, Philadelphia, wore eyelet gowns over tulle and scarlet underskirts, their headpieces and arm bouquets being made up of white gladioli. The flower girl was Carol Holston, of this city. Carol, too, was attired in white embroidered eyelet over white satin, and carried a basket of white and pastel toned blossoms.

The attractive gown worn by the bride was of white satin, made with fitted bodice, decollete collar, with folds of satin providing an off-shoulder effect. Sleeves tapered over her hands in petal effect. The full skirt swept to a graceful train. The front of the skirt, worn over hoops, at three points was caught up to reveal a Chantilly lace slip. The skirt hem was also trimmed with Chantilly lace. The same type lace was used for her veil, held at both sides with white gladioli. She wore a single strand of pearls about her neck, and carried white orchids and white gladioli. The bridal gown, as well as those worn by her attendants, were designed and made by the former Miss Kase. She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Edwin G. Kase.

Serving Mr. Lange as best man was Mr. George Roberts, Jenkintown; and ushers were Messrs. James L. Edwards, Lester Mueller, Jenkintown; Thomas W. Powell, Bryn Mawr; and Stephen J. Sedla, Philadelphia. They wore white coats, black trousers and ties. Boutonnieres were gladioli, that worn by the ushers being white, and by the best man orchid tone.

Green Terrace, Anville, was the gathering place for 150 for the reception, guests coming from Chicago, Ill.; Tennessee; New York; New Jersey, and various parts of Pennsylvania. An orchestra provided music for the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Lange are taking a honeymoon trip by automobile through the New England states. The bride travelled in a pearl gray gabardine suit, her accessories being of green lizard, and her corsage white orchids. The couple plan to live at 160 McPherson street, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Kase, mother of the bride, selected for the wedding a bige

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Arthur D. Sargis
Pastor
Eddington Presbyterian Church

Dear Father, we thank Thee for the words of Thy Son, who, when he was here among men, had this to say to all that mourn. "Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted." We have a saying which should not be true of Thy children, "Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and you weep alone." These words of the Master make it perfectly clear that Thou art a God of love and that Thou dost care for all that laugh and for all that mourn. We pray for all who are dispirited and may this message lift up their hearts. In Jesus name we pray. Amen.

satin dress and dacia accessories. Mrs. Lange, mother of the bridegroom, chose a poudre blue dress and white accessories. Each wore orchids.

The wedding cake was topped by a Temple University drum major, and a University of Pennsylvania drum major, symbolizing the college romance of the bride and bridegroom who were twirlers throughout their college careers. The bride is also a graduate of Lebanon high school. Her husband graduated from Jenkintown high school before entering Wharton School of the University. He is a junior executive of Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia.

BRISTOL TERRACE WINS 2ND GAME IN YOUTH LEAGUE

CROYDON, Aug. 22 — Errorless playing and the effectiveness of "Pete" Rubino in the pinches gave the Bristol Terrace team the victory in the second game of the playoff series of the Bristol Youth League. The Terrace nine won over the Croydon A. C., 4-1, on the latter's field, here.

Rubino gave Croydon seven hits but he walked five batters and hit another with a pitched ball. This wildness had him in hot water on several occasions but the Terrace hurler used his hook and speed ball to pull out of the bad spots.

ST. ANN'S TIES FOR 1ST PLACE IN THE TRENTON LEAGUE

TRENTON, Aug. 22—St. Ann's A. tied for first place in the Trenton Industrial League yesterday by beating the Pirates, 10-9, in a slugfest on Wetzel field. The "Saints" will have to meet the American Steel team in a playoff game to decide first place.

A two-bagger by "Lou" Sassi with the sacks loaded in the last half of the ninth gave St. Ann's the triumph. The Bristol team was trailing, 9-7, when Bert Barbetta opened the inning with a home run. Sassi's double scored Joe Elmer and Fred Barbetta.

"Jack" Tarr hit two home runs for the Pirates while "Tucker" Bransfield also had a four-bagger. Stan Stevenson started on the hill for St. Ann's and was relieved by Paul Cervellero in the fifth. Cervellero was the winning hurler.

FIRE COMPACT

CHICAGO (INS) — The Council of State Governments reports a recently approved compact among northeastern states will launch an experiment in interstate cooperation in fire fighting. The compact had its origin in the forest fires of the past two years.

VOLTZ EVENS SERIES PLAYOFFS BY WIN OVER W. BRISTOL

The Voltz-Texaco team evened the playoff series of the Bristol Suburban Baseball League by taking the West Bristol A. C. into camp, 8-3, yesterday afternoon on Memorial Park field before a large crowd.

The Voltz-men did not start its batting attack until the second inning but from then on hit the ball hard. They pounced on "Norm" Vetter for six runs and 12 hits in 5 and one-third innings and then got a Wagner for a pair of runs and three hits, the remainder of the game. Vetter was also wild and gave up nine free tickets to first.

Paul Leighton was the winning hurler, he going the route. In all, Leighton allowed seven hits and walked three. Four of the West Bristol hits came in the first two innings when they tallied their three markers. Leighton pitched shutout ball the last seven frames.

ANTICIPATE HUGE CROWD FOR COUNTY SEAT MODEL MEET

Plans Made to Take Care of 10,000 at Doylestown Event, August 28th

KIWANIANS SPONSOR
Members of Service Club Are Briefed for Their Duties

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 22—Briefing in their duties and assignments has apprised members of the Kiwanis Club of Doylestown of their full duties for the second annual model air show which the Kiwanis Aero Club will sponsor on Sunday, August 28th, at Doylestown Airport. Last year over 5,000 persons attended the meet during the day, and plans have been completed by the committees to take care of over 10,000 this year if necessary. Kiwanians were informed at their dinner meeting that the air show will be in operation from 9 in the morning until 5 in the afternoon. There are 65 separate and individual events that will be run in three classes, junior, senior and open. Over 2,000 in trophies and merchandise has been donated for prize awards for the biggest affair of its kind ever attempted in this section of the state.

Contest Director William A. Lehman and his associate, Frank L. Worthington, reported that contestants from 12 states have made entries. A souvenir program booklet of 40 pages—1500 copies—has been printed, copies of which are being mailed out to contestants. Other copies will be presented to the first arrivals at the show on August 28. "It looks now as though we will have 500 contestants," contest leader Lehman reported to Kiwanians. "Never have I seen finer cooperation from the business men, manufacturers and the public."

"The Swan" Has Opening At Playhouse Tonight

NEW HOPE, Aug. 22—A distinguished cast of Broadway actors will be seen tonight at the Bucks County Playhouse, when "The Swan," glittering comedy by Ferenc Molnar opens a week's engagement.

Viola Roache, who played last season for the Theatre Guild in "Make Way for Lucia" and in the Hartman's revue "Angel in the Wings," is starred in the role of an ambitious noblewoman whose character is said to be patterned after that of the late Queen Marie of Romania. The title role is acted by lovely Frances Reid and Dorothy Sands will play another pivotal role.

"The Swan" has all the grace, charm and wit associated with the continental comedies so popular in pre-war days, and has been a favorite of playgoers in this country and abroad.

The cast, directed by Paul Morrison, includes Anthony Kemble Cooper as a stuffy prince who marries to please his mother, Karl Weber as a romantic tutor in the royal household, Henry Jones as a jolly priest, Judson Rees and Barry Truax as two young princes, Carl White, Robert Caldwell, Frieda Patrick, Josephine Patrick, Fred Blair, Toni Robinson, Patricia Cowell, Robert Nutt, Hugh Pershing, Edward Maher and Richard Lounsbury.

BOOSTERS TO MEET

A meeting of the Cadet Booster Association of the American Legion will be held in Bracken Post home at eight o'clock this evening.

Mrs. Maurice J. Keating Dies Here On Sunday

Mrs. Mary V. Keating (nee Bell), wife of the late Maurice J. Keating, died yesterday morning at the home of her son-in-law, Alexander Dixon, Jr., 1028 Radcliffe street.

Mrs. Keating, who formerly resided at 519 Linden street, was born in Mauch Chunk.

She is survived by: daughters, Mrs. Alfred Darrach, of Andalusia, and Mrs. Alexander Dixon, Jr., of Bristol; sons, Frank J. and Michael J., also of Bristol, and 12 grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at nine o'clock Wednesday morning from her late residence, 1028 Radcliffe street, with Solemn Mass of Requiem in St. Mark's R. C. Church at 10 o'clock. Interment in St. Mark's Cemetery will be in charge of John S. Gavegan, funeral director. Friends are invited to call Tuesday evening.

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

James Brown, wildlife protection assistant for seven counties outlined game conditions expected to prevail in the area when he addressed members of Great Swamp Fish, Game and Forestry Association, Tuesday evening at Quakertown.

Announcement was made that 150 pheasants from the association stock will be released this week in this vicinity.

A petition against the recent State Game commission ruling of open season on doe this year was presented before the organization. Three films were shown on beaver, commercial fishing and game fishing in Michigan.

Plans to make Pennsylvania Week in Doylestown outstanding were discussed at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Inc., Thursday evening, when a suggestion was made that all the types of products and wares manufactured in the county seat be exhibited in store windows between Oct. 17 to 24th.

President Paul R. Enrich volunteered to contact all the businessmen there and vice president John A. Mueller will contact all the manufacturers. The C. of C. will cooperate with Councilman C. Eldon Clemens, chairman for Doylestown. Because of the good attendance Continued on Page Four

The Tito regime accused Russia yesterday of having sold out Yugoslav interests in Slovenia, Carinthia, in Austria, to further Kremlin interests. The Belgrade note, six in a series of bitter exchanges between the two countries, was issued in reply to a Soviet statement that Yugoslavia was considered an enemy.

In Germany, a Communist leader announced postponement of formation of an "All-German government" in the Soviet zone, a move that had been expected as a Russian reply to the coming establishment of a Western German Federal Republic.

John J. McCloy, United States High Commissioner designate for Germany, announced the appointment of seven chief advisers who will serve on the Western Allied commission. Three of them worked under Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

The Christian Democratic Union, strongest party in the German Federal Republic, rejected the possibility of a coalition with the Social Democrats and reaffirmed its plans for a free-enterprise economy in the new state.

DEMONSTRATE ELECTRONIC BRAIN

Has "Mercury Memory" Capable of Calculating 12,000 Times

IS EXHIBITED TODAY

By John McAfferty (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22—(INS)—An electronic brain with a "mercury memory" capable of calculating 12,000 times faster than a human being was demonstrated today by two Philadelphia engineering wizards.

The invention—called "Binac"—is the brainchild of Dr. John W. Mauchly, 42, and Dr. J. Presper Eckert, Jr., 30.

Binac was hailed as a forward step in aviation design that will permit rapid calculations "formerly impossible or impractical" with savings of hundreds of thousands of dollars, perhaps even millions, in time and money.

The amazing "brain," constructed for the Northrop Aircraft Corp., of Hawthorne, Calif., will virtually eliminate the hazards of test flying of airplanes.

John K. Northrop, president of the aircraft firm, said Binac probably will erase "costly and often destructive physical tests" in future airplane design.

Flying will be made safer by the invention of Binac, he contended, because the "brain" will permit more accurate, thorough, and extensive design, research and development of planes.

Typical of Binac's remarkable computations are these:

Sudden Death Occurs For William A. Kitchen

LANGHORNE, Aug. 22—William A. Kitchen, of Germantown, a former resident of this borough, who died suddenly on Thursday, is to be buried tomorrow.

Death occurred for Mr. Kitchen, who was 51, at the home of a son at Chestertown, Md.

Surviving are his wife, Lillian LeCompte Kitchen; also two sons, Robert C. Kitchen, of Chestertown; and H. LeCompte Kitchen, of Pittsburgh.

The service will be held at a funeral home at 2428 N. Broad street, Philadelphia, at eight o'clock this evening. Interment in Langhorne Methodist Churchyard will be private.

68 RELIEF CASES IN COUNTY IN WEEK

Number of Persons On Relief In County Week of Aug. 13th Totaled 125

130 BLIND RECIPIENTS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 22—During the second week of August, Pennsylvania's General Assistance rolls increased by 1,499 persons, which represents some improvement over the change during the first week of the month, when the net increase amounted to 1,706. The number of persons now receiving General Assistance totals 74,365.

During the past few weeks there have been indications that unemployment has already reached a peak and will soon decline. Since the unemployed rarely apply for assistance until after a considerable period of unemployment, upward and downward movements in the assistance rolls generally lag some distance behind changes in unemployment levels. It is too early to predict when the effect of more favorable employment conditions will lead to a reversal in the trend of the assistance rolls.

PHILADELPHIA PREPARES TO WELCOME INVASION BY 35,000 VICTORIOUS VETERANS OF TWO WORLD WARS FOR CONVENTION

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22—(INS)—Philadelphia prepared today for an invasion by 35,000 victorious veterans of two world wars assembling for the 31st National Convention of the American Legion during the week of August 28.

A vanguard of 19 officers and key personnel from the national headquarters at Indianapolis, Ind., arrived yesterday for the first Legion national convention in the Quaker City since 1926.

President Harry S. Truman, himself a Legionnaire since his World War I service as an artillery captain, will address the 6,678 delegates and alternates in Convention Hall on Monday afternoon.

The Chief Executive will be awarded the Legion's distinguished service medal by Secretary of De-

NANCY M. ROMBERGER, J. R. VANSANT WED

Five Members of Bridal Party Are Relatives of Contracting Parties

LANGHORNE WEDDING

LANGHORNE, Aug. 22—A prelude of vocal selections by a Harrisburg resident was arranged on Saturday afternoon, the date of the Vansant-Romberger wedding. The ceremony uniting Miss Nancy M. Romberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira P. Romberger, Langhorne R. D. 1, and Mr. J. Richard Vansant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Vansant, Middletown township, was solemnized in Langhorne Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Robert J. Rodisch officiated at the three o'clock nuptial ceremony. Vocalist was Miss Sidney Garverich, Harrisburg.

The white satin gown worn by the bride had short sleeves; she wore white satin gauntlets, and carried a white prayer book topped by an orchid. Her white net cap was enhanced with seed pearls, and from this was suspended a fingertip veil.

Her attendants were three in number. The maid of honor, Miss Ruth Romberger, a sister, wore a gold satin gown and carried a finger bouquet of beaon gladioli. Miss Jean M. Holman, of Phoenixville, was bridesmaid.

Can You Remember?

(By "The Stroller")
When Bristol police officers, led by the late Chief Charles Saxton, every evening at seven o'clock, walked from the police station, Radcliffe and Market streets to Mill street and the P. R. R., and then went to "pound" their respective "beats."

Chief Saxton was always in uniform and walked alone at the head of his men, who marched two abreast.

It was a dignified procession.

COUNCIL TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON ZONING LAW

Sets August 30th As Time To Discuss Revised Draft of Law

HAVE MADE CHANGES

Hearing Is To Be Held In The Municipal Building

Bristol Borough Council will hold a public hearing Tuesday evening, August 30th, at eight o'clock in the municipal building at which time all residents and parties in interest may appear in regard to the proposed zoning law for Bristol.

The first draft of the proposed law was submitted to two public meetings here and a number of changes and revisions were suggested, and as far as thought practical these changes have been made and the revised law placed in the hands of council.

Before enacting the law council desires to have an expression of opinion upon the revised draft and it is for this purpose that the meeting on August 30th will be held.

This, it is believed, will be the final hearing upon the proposed law and there will be present at the hearing representatives of the Government Consulting Service, Institute of Local and State Government, University of Pennsylvania, and also members of the Bristol Zoning Commission.

It is believed that Council will vote upon the law at its September meeting.

Prolonged Illness Ends In Death for N. Davis, Sr.

A prolonged illness, the result of virus pneumonia, resulted in death this morning for Norman Davis, Sr., of Trenton, N. J., in Donnelly Memorial Hospital, that city. He was 66 years of age.

Mr. Davis is survived by his wife, Josephine Johnson Davis; a daughter, Dorothy; two sons, James and Norman, Jr., all of Bristol; his mother, Mrs. Lura Davis, Trenton; two sisters, Mrs. Lura Jones, Trenton, and Mrs. Mildred Perry, New York, N. Y.; and a brother, Harry, of Bristol.

BRISTOL MAN'S TRUCK SHEARED OFF CHASSIS

Comes To Grief Under The Market Street Elevated, Philadelphia

G. MAZZANTI DRIVING

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22—(INS)—A produce truck driven by Guido Mazzanti, of Bristol, came to grief today under the Market street elevated at 30th street. The body was severed from the chassis when the vehicle failed to clear the overhead span.

The chassis moved forward 50 feet before being brought to a stop by Mazzanti.

Mazzanti's son, Guido, Jr., was asleep beside his father when the truck jammed under the steel structure.

Excommunication Forces Resignation

New York—The Vatican's excommunication of Communists was disclosed today to have forced the second resignation of a Polish diplomatic official within a week. Former U. S. Ambassador to Poland Arthur Riles Lane said that Adam Gubrinowicz, for four years director of protocol in the Communist-controlled Polish Government, fled Warsaw and is now in Berne, Switzerland. Lane said that the diplomat submitted his resignation Aug. 8 and is now trying to enter the U. S. with his wife and daughter.

Wigglesworth Opposes FCC Ban on "Giveaways"

Washington—Opponents of the Federal Communications Commission's ban on "giveaway" radio and television programs found a new ally today in Rep. Wigglesworth (R-Mass.). Wigglesworth, a ranking minority House member, charged the FCC order was an attempt to censor radio and he encouraged broadcasters planning court tests. He said he hoped the order would "be stoutly resisted."

Communist-Led Strikes Crumble in Finland

Helsinki—Finland's Communist-led wave of strikes crumbled slowly today under Government counter-measures and the back-to-work ultimatum of the Finnish Trade Union Federation. However, the Union of Finland Association tried to inject new life into the strike by demanding that Patu Hautajarvi, former chief of the mobile police, be released from jail where he is reportedly on a hunger strike.

Lake Success, N. Y.—The cost of operating the United Nations through 1950 was estimated by Secretary General Trygve Lie today at $44,314,398. In submitting the fifth and largest budget in the organization's history, Lie warned that expenses must be cut down. The 1949 budget was $65,295 less than the 1950 estimate.

JUGULAR VEIN IS SEVERED; TRIPLE CRASH, NEW HOPE

Condition of Lambertville Man Serious; 4 Others Are Hurt

WOMAN IS INJURED

Crashes at Langhorne and Morrisville Result In Damage to Cars

In an accident involving three automobiles on Old York road, three miles west of New Hope, during the week-end, one man was seriously hurt, and four others sustained injuries which sent them to a hospital. In a Pennel crash a woman sustained a possible leg fracture. Three other highway crashes resulted in car damages, but no injuries.

The one who was admitted to Abington Hospital, seriously hurt, and whose condition at mid-morning was unchanged, is John Prawle, 21, of Lambertville, N. J. His jugular vein was severed.

The other injured, admitted to Doylestown Emergency Hospital, are:

Floyd R. Walls, 21, of Butler. William Barbizio, Jr., 19, Stockton, N. J.

George Huber, 22, Lambertville. Maurice LiMato, Trenton, N. J.

Police were unable for a time after the crash, due to condition of the injured, to secure an account of the accident. DMMA was identified as one of the drivers, it being stated that his machine had run out of gasoline. Huber was said to be the driver of the second vehicle, Prawle riding with him. The driver of the third vehicle is said to be Miss Miriam Adams, of Bethlehem, she operating Waj's sedan.

The woman injured at Pennel is:

Mrs. Shirley Helfer, Mt. Vernon, N. J., possible fracture of right leg. Continued on Page Four

Dry Transplanting Time Cancels Flower Show

KELLERS CHURCH, Aug. 22—The flower and vegetable show scheduled by Kellers Church Community Flower and Garden Club for August 31st has been cancelled. This is said to be due to dry weather at transplanting time.

The program at the meeting last week consisted of articles read on water smelling and the calendar of the week by the members.

A new project was taken up to make pictures and trays with pressed flowers. The work is to be completed by December.

The next meeting will be held in the Grange hall here, Sept. 14, when a demonstration on making corsages and old fashioned bouquets will be given.

The door prize was presented to Mrs. Harry C. Wambold and brought by Mrs. Lando K. Moyer. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan (Distributed by International News Service)

We've been so busy watching Shirley May we forgot to note that William Z. Foster is still doing poorly.

Mr. Foster put on his night-shirt and settled back on the pillows just about as the Communist trial began, and nothing in the testimony has seemed to improve his condition.

But it doesn't seem right... Judge Medina sitting there on that nice hard bench every day and Comrade Foster unable to get off his soft mattress.

Rep. Thomas came down with an attack of miseries too, some time ago but he's reported much better since General Vaughan took back the front pages.

Thomas might have a tough time getting himself before a committee now... he's nowhere near as colorful as the current subjects.

If he's going to get anywhere he better give away a few refrigerators to Republicans... that would get headlines.

OKLAHOMA LONGHORNS
Here's one for Texans to explain if they can. How come it took a fellow in Oklahoma to save the Texas longhorn from extinction?
Thirty years ago Earl Drummond, ranged in the Wichita wildlife refuge of Oklahoma, took a look around and saw that the longhorn cattle of the Southwest were just about nonexistent. That stirred him deeply. Why, it was longhorns that made Texas. The cows with the five to eight foot spread of horns had been the most famous of all Texas products from about 1845 to the end of the nineteenth century. The Spaniards had brought them originally to Mexico in the early 1500s.

Drummond could find only 20 cows and three bulls in 1927 when he and the U. S. Forest Service started to save the breed. Today he is looking after a herd of 220 longhorns. Only a few years ago this most truly American breed was nearer extinction than the buffalo ever was.

Is the longhorn worth saving as a living museum piece? Americans who cherish the folkways and history of the Southwest will answer yes. For one thing the longhorn was responsible for the American cowboy — his toughness, his superb horsemanship, and even his leather chaps he wore to protect his legs from the chapparal and cactus of the great dry ranges.

And the cow herself — what a gal she was! She'd fight the fiercest panther or wolf if her calf was in danger. A longhorn bull would even charge a grizzly bear.

Chickens can be bred without wings from coast to coast till not a single winged fowl remains. But the Texas longhorn deserves preservation intact — horns and all.

THE FIGHT ON POLIO
Medical science is making great progress in the battle against polio.
One of the latest developments in the fight against polio is the perfection of a plastic lung, weighing only a pound, to take the place of the 700-pound respirators now in use. The new lung fits over the chest, permitting the patient to lie abed, ride in wheelchairs, or take the needed exercises. About 100 now are in use, and 75 more are available for shipment to any area which has an outbreak of the disease.
Preventive measures are well known and should be generally practiced. Children should be kept from crowds and excitement, must not become fatigued and should be made to rest during the afternoon. Sudden chills are dangerous, and all mouth and throat operations should be avoided. And, above all, a physician should be called at the very first sign of illness.
Only little children should be satisfied to sit and blow bubble and wait for the breaks.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol May 31, 1909. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger

Miss Meta Worthington has resigned her position as teacher of the Laurel Bend school.

Chief Burgess Augustus J. Cadwallader, of Yardley borough, has been appointed on the reception committee of the Republican National Convention.

The trolley that was expected to have been built this summer from Andalusia to the end of the Humeville bridge, seems to have got lost in trying to make its way up the Humeville road.

On Sunday, Elissa Worthington and Joseph Leav, of Newtown, discovered a nest of five foxes on Bowman's hill, below New Hope, and captured four of the occupants, one making good his escape. The foxes are now at Daffington, but will probably go to Newtown later to take up their abode.

For several days last week the Neshaminy Creek was swarming with herring of an unusually fine quality. As a result thereof many of our residents will live on salt fish next winter. It is said that a party of young men caught over 600 in one evening. Landlord Scholz, of the Humeville Hotel, caught 250 of the fish last Thursday morning.

A representative of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh capitalists was in Bristol this week and made overtures for the purchase of the Bristol Electric Light and Power Company station.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Republican Stupidity
Washington, Aug. 22.

EVERY now and then some oracular person — generally one of our self-anointed "liberals" — jumps up to tell the Republican party what is the matter with it, what it should do to be saved. Such advice is worthless for two reasons — 1, it comes from men who do not want the Republicans to win under any conditions; 2, even if their purpose were benign, what they say would not help because it avoids the facts.

FOR example, they consistently declare the Republicans cannot succeed until they discard "Old Guard reaction" and identify themselves with "progressive policies" which "appeal to the people." All this means is that the Republicans must go in the same direction as the New Deal Democrats, coddle the same groups and continue the same spending pace regardless of debts, deficits and dangers. Unfortunately, this is what the Republicans have been doing since the day they fully grasped the power in that "tax, tax, tax, spend, spend, spend, elect, elect, elect" idea enunciated by the late Mr. H. Hopkins.

Constant Growth
Since the end of the war, we have placed in service a total of 59 entirely new central offices... we have added to the equipment in every one of our other central offices... we have added more than 93,500 poles and 1,400,000 miles of wire to our network.
Most important of all, we have added more than 813,000 telephones to the 1,680,562 in service on V-J Day.

This vast expansion program was made possible by the New Money Invested in Telephone Securities. Important dollars, these. Vital dollars. To continue to attract them, we must keep them secure. And we must see that they earn a fair return.

victory in Virginia against about as formidable array of coddled groups as could be devised, ought to prove that they do not constitute the whole country or even a majority thereof and that a man who stands against them for a sound principle can survive. The Republican party is full of men who believe in what Mr. Byrd believes, but become scared to death at the suggestion of actively and openly opposing these groups. The same applies to the Democratic party only more so as it is definitely tied to the groups and completely committed to spend more not less.

REFLECTION upon these things should make it clear why the Republicans cannot win. So long as they remain true there is little hope for the country and none whatever for the Republican party. Two men have strikingly pointed this out recently. One is Mr. Herbert Hoover, whose great speech on his seventy-fifth birthday stressed the fact that today one out of every seven persons directly or indirectly is receiving Government money. If those of age are married, he added, this would about equal the presidential vote of both parties in "Tahiti."

Allen VanHorn, Jr., formerly an employee of the Gazette office, died in Denver, Colo., on Sunday... He served his apprenticeship at the Humeville "Beacon" office, published by William P. Tilton... Interment took place today at Beechwood Cemetery, Humeville.

Joseph Bell, who for many years has been an engineer in the Pennsylvania Railroad passenger service, upon his own request has been transferred to the shifting engine at this point, Lewis Pope assuming Mr. Bell's former position. William Johnson will be the flagman, and a Bristol man will be put on as a fireman, thus forming a local crew to work in the Bristol freight yards.

The Cape May Steamboat Company, a corporation formed under the laws of New Jersey, for the purpose of operating steamers on the Delaware River and bay, will run the Republic this season between Philadelphia and Cape May. The company has organized and elected officers and directors as follows: Horace Wilson, T. G. Earle, F. P. Bell, M. Harvey Ivins, F. G. Edwards.

The annual meeting of the Bristol school board was held in the directors' room at the high school on Monday evening... The new board... re-elected the following officers: President J. K. Wildman; Secretary, H. S. Rue; treasurer, Edward H. Foster.

IN BRIEF, the country is conservative whenever the issue is clearly drawn. It is neither New Dealish nor Fair Dealish. It is not for bribing the people with their own money or for waste or the "welfare state" or debts and deficits. It is not for the direction in which we have been going. But when the Republicans try to compete with the spenders there really is no place for either conservative Democrats or Republicans to go. Large numbers of them stay home. That is what they did in 1948, and that is what they will continue to do no matter who the candidates may be. So long as that situation exists the Republicans will lose and the Democrats win. So long as that situation exists there is not much chance of a change.

Teach Tot to Defend Himself

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

THE tot who won't defend himself has a sorry time of it. U. less he learns to take his own part he will probably go on letting other children lord it over him and will be a lonely child at six, ten or sixteen. Many mothers write about such children.

His trouble may have grown from one or many causes. He may have been cautioned constantly against fighting under any conditions. He may have been playing with older and stronger children who easily intimidate him. He may have had more playmates than his playmates. He may have been told that certain children are unfit to play with him, even been forbidden to play with them, and he may have told them why, in which case they soon will take reprisals. Or when he is not allowed to face certain hazards or do certain other things, he may hear his parents criticize his playmates and their parents. He may have been encouraged to tattle on other children and run crying to his mother for protection. He may have been ill a great deal, missing good play practice. He may not have learned self-reliance, physically or emotionally in the family.

Cries Easily
Any child who cries easily when frustrated in the family will incline to cry easily when with his playmates. The more readily he cries, the less he will look after himself and the less acceptable he will be to other children, and the more disposed to call other children by ugly names. These are all poor substitutes for self-defense.

If you have a child two, four or ten who won't take his own part with other children of his age, suppose you consider the following:
1. Work with your physician to make this child strong and healthy.
2. Study him in the family. Does he do for himself everything he is able to do? Can he amuse himself for a reasonable period at a stretch? Does he respect the rights and possessions of other members of the family? Has he learned to accept some rules and decisions as final, or does he whine, cry, or have a tantrum when he can't have his way? Have you trained him not to call any person by ugly names? Can he be normally comfortable out of your sight or when left with another responsible person? Does he have excessive fears? Is he excitable or jittery? Does he cry easily and for long periods?

Child's Clothes
3. Do you dress him more fussily than his playmates are dressed? Does he have more things to give away than they have? If he has, he is less ready to protect his own things or he may try to buy his way with other children rather than win it by being a good playmate.

4. Have you told him he is too good to play with certain other children or complained to the parents of his playmates about them? Let your child know he must look after himself, fight his own battles and settle his own quarrels. Urge him to avoid the use of sticks and stones but to use his bare hands in self-defense.

5. Attract a few children near his age to your premises and guide him and them in proper play.
6. Help him develop some skills other children of his age will admire. At quiet moments, show him how he can keep other children from seeing him cry, by hiding or stopping down pretending he is tying his shoes, till he gets self-control. Praise him for the slightest improvement in self-control and self-defense. Be happy with slight gains.

Related bulletins of mine are, "Fears," "Lonely, Timid Youth," "Your Child and His Playmates," (to be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper).

(1) In the space of two hours, Binae obtained 26 solutions to mathematical problems that would have taken a man with the most advanced manual calculating machine many, many years to solve. Binae, for each solution, did 500,000 additions, 200,000 multiplications and 200,000 "transfers of control" in a mere five minutes.

(2) Twenty-five numbers, selected at random by persons attending a private demonstration of Binae, were calculated in square and cube root in the fraction of a second. For each square or cube root, Binae whizzed through hundreds of arithmetic operations.

A human being with a scratch pad ordinarily can find a square root correct to eight or nine digits in six minutes, with a desk calculator in two minutes. Binae did it in one-sixth of a second.

(3) Fed a number from Barlow's tables (a handbook containing the answers to square and cube roots). Binae flashed the solution in two-thousandths of a second. An engineer at the Eckert-Mauchly laboratory struggled nearly four hours on a manual calculator to find the right answer.

In size, Binae is only five feet high, four feet long and one foot wide. It fits in a medium-sized office.

It functions on a scale smaller than "Eniac," its 30-ton parent also invented by Eckert-Mauchly, because of its "mercury memory" which permits the computer to handle a great volume of data.

Electrical pulses representing numbers and instructions speed through Binae at the rate of four million per second.

Dr. Mauchly stressed that Binae actually is a brain "that does not think, but merely follows instructions given to it in the form of simple arithmetic operations."

The invention, he said, opens a new era in industrial design forecast." Dr. Mauchly added:

"It often takes months, even years to bring a new industrial product from the research laboratory to the factory belt-line. This time can certainly be shortened through the use of computers such as the Binae."

Northrop said that Binae evolved from a need in aviation design for the solution of mathematical problems "which cannot be solved in any reasonable period of time by humans working with pencil and paper or ordinary calculating machines."

But Dr. Mauchly, 42-year-old engineering wizard, and the youthful Dr. Eckert have not yet reached the apex of their engineering dreams.

Already, they are at work on a bigger, more practical computer which will be called "Univac."

The two inventors believe "Univac" even will be able to forecast

the economic situation in the world of tomorrow.

If all goes well, the new brain will be ready next year, perhaps in time to be tested in the 1950 census.

and Miss Lola Vansant, the latter the bridegroom's sister, served as bridesmaids, and wore green satin gowns, their bouquets being of picardy gladioli.

Mr. Bernard W. Vansant was best man for his brother; the ushers being Messrs. Robert Hitchner, Ira P. Romberger, 3d, and John F. Romberger. The latter two are brothers of the bride.

"Green Meadows," the Romberger home, was the scene of the reception. Leaving for a honeymoon journey, Mrs. Vansant was attired in a dark green faille suit with beige accessories. The couple will reside with the bride's parents.

A dress of blue satin, and gray accessories, were worn by the bride's mother. The bridegroom's mother wore a dacia crepe dress with dark brown accessories.

The former Miss Romberger is a graduate of Langhorne-Middletown high school, here; and of Peirce Business School, Philadelphia. Her husband served in the U. S. Marine Corps for four years.

NEWS OF INTEREST TO PA. FARMERS

By John Harnus
(U. S. N. Penna. Farm Editor)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 22 — Pennsylvania farm extension experts have warned farmers against vegetation which forms deadly prussic acid and is dangerous to livestock.

Choke and wild cherry leaves, found in abundance along fence rows, are not poisonous normally, but if they wilt, as when trees or branches are cut or knocked down, the leaves form dangerous amounts of prussic acid.

Choke cherry leaves accounted for six cattle deaths in 1948, the agriculture dept. said. Twelve livestock deaths were recorded in that year from various poisonings.

The common pasture weeds water hemlock and poison hemlock in wet areas also are poisonous and are a menace to livestock.

Both types of hemlock grow four to six feet high and have flat-top clusters of white blossoms. The poison hemlock has fine leaves somewhat like the carrot, while the water hemlock leaves resemble parsley leaves.

Livestock is apt to eat the young plants or second growth after mowing, the department said.

Sinigrad may cause sickness in cattle and can kill sheep. It grows in shaded areas. Bracken, or brake

fern, common in poor pastures in northern counties, causes sickness with symptoms akin to hemorrhagic septicemia.

Prussic acid-producing cherry leaves should be guarded against by frequent patrolling of areas to remove fallen branches, particularly after storms.

Prussic acid poisoning of cattle from eating sudan grass is rare in Pennsylvania, experts say, but plants which have been stunted by drought or frost or wilted by trampling may prove dangerous.

The federal-state crop reporting service believes the production of most fresh vegetables and melons will be a little larger in August and September than a year earlier, provided they are helped by sufficient rain.

Prices of deciduous fruits this summer are expected to average lower than last year since a larger total crop is in prospect, the service forecast. Farmers this summer will receive prices for their potatoes of from one-fourth to one-fifth lower than last summer.

The Franklin County Artificial Breeding Co-operative reported 415 farmers have enrolled 4,200 cows in

the artificial breeding program in the county.

Raymond Deardorff, of Chambersburg, the co-operative's inseminator, said since January 1st a total of 2,144 cows owned by member farmers have been bred artificially. That compared with 1,380 cows during the same period last year, he said.

Spends Summer Working In Western Wheat Fields

NEW BRITAIN, Aug. 22 — A local young man who left here after his high school graduation in June to work in the west wheat fields, has returned home. The youth, Donald Mathewson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Mathewson, together with Lee Hicks, of Colmar, hitchhiked to Dodge City, Kansas.

The next day they went to Ford, Kansas, where they immediately found employment on a large wheat ranch, and Donald operated a tractor pulling a 20-ft. plow and then a 20-ft. combine.

After the crop was about two-thirds in, hail damaged the rest so the boys moved on to Tribune, near the Colorado border, where Don says all he could see was wheat, cattle and prairie dogs.

Lee purchased an ancient car, in which the boys went to witness the "During the Frontier Celebration" at Cheyenne, Wyoming, visited Denver, and later saw the Mt. Rushmore Memorial in South Dakota. They spent some time in Rapid City, S. D., and on the homeward trip visited relatives in Canton, Ohio. They did various odd jobs along the way to augment their income.

About the middle of September Donald expects to enter Prairie Bible Institute, Three Hills, Alberta, Canada, for missionary training.

You Don't Need to "Break In" Shoes That Fit Correctly.

High-heeled shoes are best saved for dressy daytime or evening occasions. This pair, made with firm leather soles, are both smart and comfortable.

By HELEN FOLLETT

IF you have to "break in" new shoes you know you are being mean to your poor feet and that they are protesting. When the right last is found, shoes are comfortable the moment you put them on. On the subject of shoes most women are as stubborn as mules. They'll stick to the same size. They will select for looks instead of ease and freedom from pressure when they can find style and comfort both if they have the patience to seek this combination.

Nowadays, footwear to excite the envy and admiration of the most style-minded is built with full attention to the needs of feminine pedals. Flexible leather soles, insuring comfort and shape-retention, are available in desired thinness and many types of finish. Modern design imparts grace and delicacy to shoes with broad low heels. In high-heeled models, designer's magic and superior materials insure a snug fit together with flexible support and the ability to "step pretty."

squared toes. At last the toes are getting a break. Let them go into a huddle and you'll have plenty of trouble (to express the matter poetically). Even hammer toes have resulted from the wearing of narrow shoes. Sometime a hammer toe requires surgical treatment and that is a final farewell to it. It is removed.

Considering that painful feet make one hurt all over, you would think that women who suffer such misery would find out the cause, have it removed or corrected. The cause, usually, is found in ill-fitting shoes. They are too short or too narrow, or not the right last.

If shoppers would listen to the advice of shoe clerks they would learn a lot and would locomote with ease. But they won't listen. On this subject most of them have fixed ideas.

This season's offerings are varied and as smart as mustard. Your little dogs can be encased in the decorative little houses or in those that have simple lines and a tailored

Member of Bristol High Faculty Weds At Lebanon

LEBANON, Aug. 22—A college romance culminated in a wedding here on Saturday afternoon uniting Miss Allene E. Kase, daughter of Mrs. Edwin A. Kase, of this city, and Mr. Samuel Lange, son of Mrs. Earl B. Lange, of Jenkintown. The double ring ceremony performed at two o'clock by Dr. E. M. Rhoads, assisted by Mr. Philip E. Henry, took place in Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church. Palm fronds and white gladioli in altar vases were arranged effectively, 28 candles surrounding altar pews.

The bride has been home economics teacher at Bristol high school. A twenty-minute recital was provided by Mr. Thomas Israel, of Cleona, previous to the ceremony; and offerings by vocalist Mr. Richard I. Carty, soloist of Temple University Glee Club, Philadelphia, were "Because," "Through the Years," and following the prayer offered by Mr. Henry he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Costumes of the attendants of the bride were of white eyelet embroidery over tulle, with matching tulle sashes. The gowns had fitted bodices, full pleated skirts arranged over hoops, and at four points the skirts were draped and tied with knots of tulle. The gowns featured decollete collars, and detachable sleeves. The gown of the honor attendant, Miss Kaye M. Dennison, of Falls Creek, was over orchid tulle, her headpiece and arm bouquet comprising orchid gladioli. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Dumphy, New York, N. Y., and Mrs. Warren Conrad, Philadelphia, wore eyelet gowns over tulle and white gladioli.

The flower girl was Carol Holston, of this city. Carol, too, was attired in white eyelet over white satin, and carried a basket of white and pastel toned blossoms.

The attractive gown worn by the bride was of white satin, made with fitted bodice, decollete collar, with folds of satin providing an off-shoulder effect. Sleeves tapered over her hands in petal effect. The full skirt swept to a graceful train. The front of the skirt, worn over hoops, at three points was caught up to reveal a Chantilly lace slip. The skirt hem was also trimmed with Chantilly lace. The same type lace was used for her veil, held at both sides with white gladioli. She wore a single strand of pearls about her neck, and carried white orchids and white gladioli. The bridal gown, as well as those worn by her attendants, were designed and made by the former Miss Kase. She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Edwin G. Kase.

Serving Mr. Lange as best man was Mr. George Roberts, Jenkintown; and ushers were Messrs. James L. Edwards, Lester Mueller, Jenkintown; Thomas W. Powell, Bryn Mawr; and Stephen J. Sedja, Philadelphia. They wore white coats, black trousers and ties. Boutonnieres were gladioli, that worn by the ushers being white, and by the best man orchid tone.

"Green Terrace, Annyville, was the gathering place for 150 for the reception, guests coming from Chicago, Ill.; Tennessee; New York, New Jersey, and various parts of Pennsylvania. An orchestra provided music for the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Lange are taking a honeymoon trip by automobile through the New England states. The bride travelled in a pearl gray gabardine suit, her accessories being of green lizard, and her corsage white orchids. The couple plan to live at 160 McPherson street, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Kase, mother of the bride, selected for the wedding a bige

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Arthur D. Sargis
Pastor
Eddington Presbyterian Church

Dear Father, we thank Thee for the words of Thy Son, who, when He was here among men, had this to say to all that mourn. "Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted." We have a saying which should not be true of Thy children. "Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and you weep alone." These words of the Master make it perfectly clear that Thou art a God of love and that Thou dost care for all that laugh and for all that mourn. We pray for all who are dispirited and may this message lift up their hearts. In Jesus name we pray. Amen.

satin dress and dacia accessories. Mrs. Lange, mother of the bridegroom, chose a poudre blue dress and white accessories. Each wore orchids.

The wedding cake was topped by a Temple University drum major, and a University of Pennsylvania drum major, symbolizing the college romance of the bride and bridegroom who were twirlers throughout their college careers. The bride is also a graduate of Lebanon high school. Her husband graduated from Jenkintown high school before entering Wharton School of the University. He is a junior executive of Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia.

BRISTOL TERRACE WINS 2ND GAME IN YOUTH LEAGUE

CROYDON, Aug. 22 — Errorless playing and the effectiveness of "Pete" Rubino in the pinches gave the Bristol Terrace team the victory in the second game of the playoff series of the Bristol Youth League. The Terrace nine won over the Croydon A. C., 4-1, on the latter's field, here.

Rubino gave Croydon seven hits but he walked five batters and hit another with a pitched ball. This wildness had him in hot water on several occasions but the Terrace hurler used his hook and speed ball to pull out of the bad spots.

ST. ANN'S TIES FOR 1ST PLACE IN THE TRENTON LEAGUE

TRENTON, Aug. 22 — St. Ann's A. tied for first place in the Trenton Industrial League yesterday by beating the Pirates, 10-9, in a slugfest on Wetzel field. The "Saints" will have to meet the American Steel team in a playoff game to decide first place.

A two-bagger by "Lou" Sassi with the sacks loaded in the last half of the ninth gave St. Ann's the triumph. The Bristol team was trailing, 9-7, when Bert Barbetta opened the inning with a home run. Sassi's double scored Joe Elmer and Fred Barbetta.

"Jack" Tarr hit two home runs for the Pirates while "Tucker" Bransfield also had a four-bagger. Stan Stevenson started on the hill for St. Ann's and was relieved by Paul Cervellero in the fifth. Cervellero was the winning hurler.

FIRE COMPACT

CHICAGO (INS) — The Council of State Governments reports a recently approved compact among northeastern states will launch an experiment in interstate cooperation in fire fighting. The compact had its origin in the forest fires of the past two years.

VOLTZ EVENS SERIES PLAYOFFS BY WIN OVER W. BRISTOL

The Voltz-Texaco team evened the playoff series of the Bristol Suburban Baseball League by taking the West Bristol A. C. into camp, 8-3, yesterday afternoon on Memorial Park field before a large crowd.

The Voltz-men did not start its batting attack until the second inning but from then on hit the ball hard. They pounced on "Norm" Vetter for six runs and 12 hits in 5 and one-third innings and then got a Wagner for a pair of runs and three hits, the remainder of the game. Vetter was also wild and gave up nine free tickets to first.

Paul Leighton was the winning hurler, he going the route. In all, Leighton allowed seven hits and walked three. Four of the West Bristol hits came in the first two innings when they tallied their three markers. Leighton pitched shutout ball the last seven frames.
